

Customer Story

Biorestoration

Biorestoration is a wellness spa focusing on treatments for skincare, anti-ageing and rejuvenation of the body and mind. PRP, microneedling, botox and other anti-ageing treatments, sexual wellness, weight loss therapy and skin treatment in the form of acne scar resurfacing and chemical peels are some of the treatments available here.

Biorestoration offers a customized treatment plan to each client based on their requirements. The spa prides itself for the premium products and services that they offer their clients. At Biorestoration spa, due consideration is given to preserving a person's natural appearance and beauty during the treatment.

Challenge

Biorestoration Spa contacted Growth99 in the year 2021, as they needed help with website creation and online brand designing. They wanted to increase their online popularity with the help of tools like Google ads.

They had a previous unpleasant experience with other digital marketing partners due to lack of communication from the partner's side. Biorestoration Spa had a relatively unimpressive and slow functioning website that was failing to attract as many online bookings as they would have liked.

Solution

Growth99 designed a new website that worked faster and was far more robust than their previous website. Due to being in constant touch with the Biorestoration Spa, Growth99 could understand their exact requirements and deliver the same without any glitches.

Paid ads, use of keyword driven content and a strong SEO backing helped Biorestoration Spa to boost their business and gain more clientele. The new website helped tremendously with organic lead generation.
